Dear Aaron:

Effective September 23, 2022, I left Loevy & Loevy to start Drury Legal, LLC, a boutique litigation practice dedicated to the issues I have championed in different capacities for many years. My decision should not be construed as adversely reflecting on my former firm.

As you know, the work I have performed for you has been very important to me. I would like to continue that work and provide you with continuity of your representation. Your matter is complex from a legal and technical standpoint. Due to my work on the matter since its inception, I am intimately familiar with all of the issues it presents and the overall strategy to litigate it to completion. I hope you will continue to put your trust in me.

I want to be sure that there is no disadvantage to you, as the client, from my decision to move. Ultimately, the decision as to how the matter I have worked on for you is handled, and who handles it in the future, is completely yours. Whatever you decide will be determinative. The following page contains a form where you can let me know how you wish to proceed. Recognizing that you may have questions regarding my move, please let me know if you would like to set up a time to talk. I am available at your convenience.

Very truly yours,

---

SCOTT R. DRURY
